Constructivism

FELD INSTITUT

Ernst von Glasersfeld

The Austrian philosopher Ernst von Glasersfeld (1917–2010) founded the epistemological school of radical constructivism.

> “For the constructivist, too, there is truth. But it is not a truth that refers to the truth of external conditions.”

Reality is what has an effect on us.

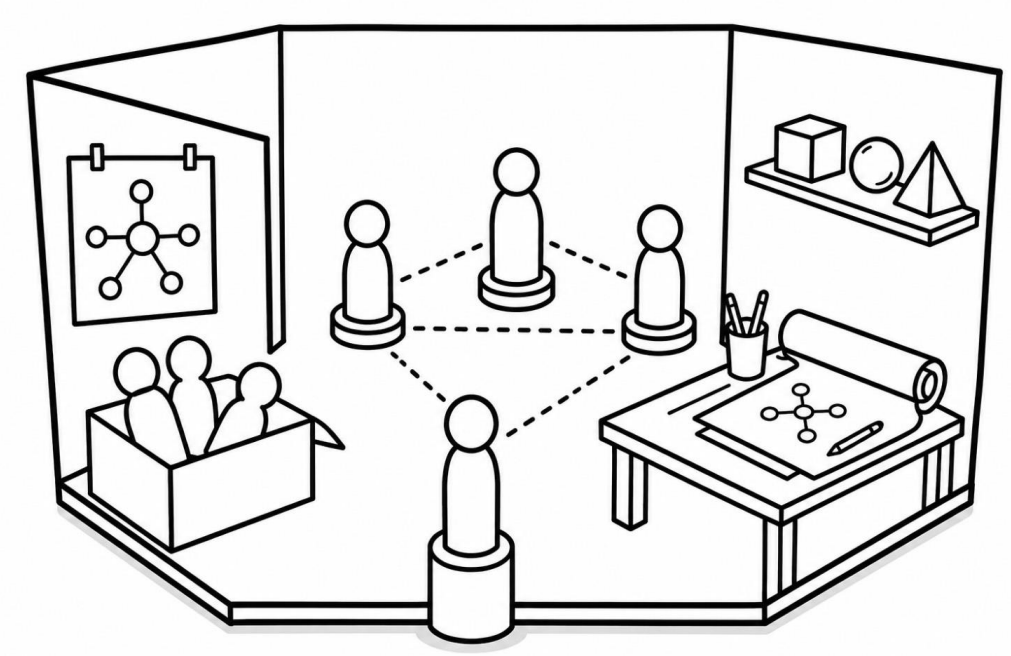

The book contains a wonderful story that describes how we create reality.

The Constellation as a Space of Construction

- Constructivism states that there is no "absolute truth" about a system, only a useful construction in the present.

- The constellation thus becomes a space of construction.

How Is Constructivism to Be Understood in Contrast to Phenomenology?
